

I HELP Charitable Foundation

In a nutshell

I HELP is a Ukrainian charitable foundation dedicated to strengthening people and communities affected by the war. We work at the intersection of humanitarian support, civic empowerment, and community recovery, helping individuals rebuild their lives with dignity while fostering resilient and community self-reliance. Our approach combines practical assistance with long-term capacity-building, ensuring that people are not only supported in moments of need but also equipped to shape their own futures.

Our Vision

A society where every person has the opportunity, capacity, and support to live with dignity, participate fully in community life, and contribute to a resilient, and further reconstruction of Ukraine.

Our Mission

Deliver humanitarian assistance, education, and recovery solutions that empower individuals and communities to rebuild their lives with dignity. We work to ensure that every person has the freedom, equality, and self-reliance needed to thrive, while supporting communities as they move from crisis toward stability, resilience, and longterm wellbeing.

Core areas of work

1

Humanitarian Support and Protection

Providing timely, dignity-centered assistance to conflict-affected people. We ensure people can meet their basic needs safely and access protection and health services that uphold their rights and well-being.

2

Education, Leadership, and Community Empowerment

Designing and delivering learning programmes that strengthen knowledge, leadership, and civic participation. Through training, mentorship, and community-driven initiatives, we equip people with the skills and confidence to take an active role in shaping their communities.

3

Community Recovery and Civil Society Strengthening

Supporting communities as they rebuild trust, strengthen local networks, and create inclusive spaces for dialogue and collaboration. We work closely with local authorities, volunteers, and civil society organizations to foster social cohesion, accountability, and long-term resilience.

Guided by the humanitarian principles, a people-centered approach, and accountability to the people we serve and our partners.

Our projects:

- Put people at the center: We ensure that the people we serve participate in the design and implementation of activities.
- Are community-driven: We support local leadership and community initiatives.
- Focus on collaboration: We work hand-in-hand with authorities, volunteers, and the community.
- Transparent and accountable: We uphold high standards of reporting and accountability to beneficiaries and donors.
- Sustainable: We focus on long-term resilience, not just immediate relief.

Comparative Advantage

With deep roots in Kherson, Mykolaiv, and Kyiv regions and years of experience supporting communities since the beginning of the Russian full invasion in Ukraine, I HELP combines operational capacity with trusted local relationships. Our team brings expertise in humanitarian response, civic engagement, protection, and community development, enabling us to deliver programmes that are both impactful and sustainable.

Highlighted Story

Thanks to the support of our partners, I HELP fosters family spaces for veterans and their families, to help them overcome the challenges of reestablishing social ties and reintegration, thereby reducing psychological stress.

Message from I HELP founder

"In wartime, some people run – and some rise."

"When the first missiles fell, we did not wait. We did not hide. We did not hesitate. We carried food to shelters. We delivered medicines to people in need. We brought humanity to places where few dared to step"
